

FIGHT ON BETWEEN FACTIONS

La Follette's Friends Sore Say They Will Support Taft

CASE OF SOUR GRAPES

Col. Roosevelt Will Accept Nomination He Says If His Party Insists.

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 17.—"Prominent progressive Republicans in the House and Senate, strong La Follette men and ardent supporters of the Wisconsin senator, everywhere will, in the end support President Taft, rather than Colonel Roosevelt, if occasion should arise where there would be the necessity of a choice between the two," says Walter L. Houser, La Follette's campaign manager, who conferred with a large number of North Dakota progressives here.

Mr. Houser made it plain that a strong antagonism now exists between the La Follette and Roosevelt camps. This antagonism, however, Mr. Houser explained, was not the chief reason of Mr. La Follette's continuing in the Presidential race, because he said the progressive campaign was in the contest to fight for principles.

Mr. Houser charged that George W. Perkins, representing the steel interests is responsible for the Roosevelt candidacy and back of its organization.

"Those opposed to Senator La Follette and the things for which he stands," said Mr. Houser, "became alarmed at the rapid development of his campaign in Ohio and the method was then pursued to hinder and disintegrate it by interposing Colonel Roosevelt's name into the campaign and starting a movement for his nomination. This was not done by men who are favorable to progressive principles. The most notable and prominent was Dan R. Hanna, son of the late Senator Marcus A. Hanna.

"The active, most energetic promoter of the Roosevelt movement in Ohio was and is Walter Brown, chairman of the Ohio State Republican committee, a smooth and as clever a politician as I have met in many years. He is not a progressive, as we understand progressives.

"Walter Brown made a proposition to the La Follette supporters that an agreement be made between the Roosevelt and La Follette supporters whereby delegates should be supported by the combined forces. There was also an effort made to finance the campaign from the same source.

"When the matter was submitted to Senator La Follette and his attention called to the men who are most prominent in the support of Roosevelt in Ohio, he flatly declined to enter into any combination or any agreement upon any such basis as they proposed."

Oyster Bay, Feb. 17.—"I will accept the nomination if my party insists."

This, in effect, is the reply Colonel Roosevelt will make to the recent demand of the eight progressive governors that he declare himself respecting the Presidential candidacy. The former President said last night, on returning from New York, that he formally would give his answer to the Governors after his Columbus, (Ohio) speech next Wednesday.

"I will say nothing concerning my position in the Columbus speech," declared the Colonel. "I will await until after my return from Columbus before making my formal reply to the Governors. It will come immediately after my return, and it will be that I will accept if my party insists."

He would go into no discussion of his forthcoming announcement, saying:

"My statement will cover everything."

Arrangements for Roosevelt's trip next week to Columbus, O., where he is to speak before the State Constitutional Convention, were completed today. The Columbus speech is the only one on Colonel Roosevelt's schedule, and he said today that he expected to make no others.

Leaving New York over the Pennsylvania at 8:34 p. m., Tuesday, Colonel Roosevelt will reach Pittsburgh at 5:37 a. m., Wednesday and Columbus at 9:55 a. m. He will remain in Columbus five hours. His speech set for 11 a. m., and at 3 p. m. he is to start on the return trip by the New York Central Railroad.

JUDGE LANNING DEAD.

Trenton, N. J. Feb. 17.—Circuit Judge William Lanning died here from heart trouble. Judge Lanning intended to sit with Circuit Judges Gray and Buffington in the government suit against the Steel Corporation and its subsidiaries. He was 63 years old and has been circuit court judge since 1909. Prior to that time he was judge in the federal district court and served one term in congress.

WELL KNOWN MEN

Mr. Albert H. Seiler, one of Newark's most progressive and enterprising citizens and business men, has taken an active interest in the welfare and growth of Newark for more than thirty-five years. Mr. Seiler was born in Prenzlau, Prussia, and in 1866, when quite a young man, came to the United States, landing in New York. After remaining in New York for a short time he secured a position with the Remington Gun Works, at Ilion, N. Y., and remained with this great factory for a number of years. While working at Ilion he was married to Miss Luther, who was making her home with her uncle, August Rockel, who was well known both in Newark and in Zanesville. In 1873 he severed his connection with the Remington Gun Works and came to Newark, where he has lived ever since, highly respected by all who know him. Soon after coming to Newark Mr. Seiler and George Mulligan purchased the lunch stand and restaurant of Keppler & Davis, near the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad depot, where they did a thriving business. Mr. Seiler finally purchased the business of Andy Vogel, on South Second street, which he conducted as a boarding house and restaurant until 1903 when he built the fine brick building now known as the Seiler hotel. Mr. Seiler is a married man, having a good wife and three children, Mrs. Edward McDonald, Mrs. Richard Matthews and Fred Seiler. Fraternally Mr. Seiler is a member of the F & A M. Druids, Knights of Pythias, Ape, and is also a member of the Mannerchor and the German Alliance.

MATRIMONIAL ADVICE FROM BIBLE CLASS

New York, Feb. 17.—Eleven hundred dollars a year is the smallest income on which a New York man should venture into matrimony, according to the report of the Rockefeller Bible class. The expenses attending marriage for young men of the middle class run, $28 for rent, $28 for clothes, $18 for gas and electricity and washing $6; for medicine, $4, carfare $9, amusements and church $2. For the summer time, $5 a month extra. A young man should marry as soon as possible after he enters the twenties. Mr. Rockefeller said the best way to obtain an idea of the disposition of one girl was to look at her mother. The, should also endeavor to see their sweetheart once before breakfast.

COURT MARTIAL ADJUTANT GENERAL

ADJUTANT GENERAL FRED C. AINSWORTH

Difficulty will be encountered, it is expected, in assembling a court martial for the trial of Adjutant General Fred C. Ainsworth, relieved from duty at the war department at Washington by order of the president on charges which border upon insubordination. Next to General Leonard Wood, he is the senior officer of the United States Army.

LEADERS MAY TELL OF PLOTS

Intimation Given That Ten Dynamite Conspirators May Confess

CONFERENCES ARE HELD

Between Attorneys of Indicted Men and United States District Attorney Miller.

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 17.—That intimations were given the government that some of the labor figures indicted in the dynamite conspiracy were preparing to tell all they knew was the buzzing around the federal building late yesterday afternoon. It is said that at least 10 were ready to make full confessions of their part in the plot.

The statements followed the Government's charges that 40,000 letters and telegrams taken from the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers showed that Frank M. Ryan, the president; Herbert S. Hookin, the Second Vice president, and members of the executive board and business agents conducted the dynamite plots through the mail, pointed out "jobs" to be blown up and maintained a system of destruction against non-union iron and steel contractors.

Asked if any negotiations had been opened with him concerning the defendants, United States District Attorney Charles W. Miller said:

"I wouldn't be surprised if it is shown soon that something like that had happened."

W. N. Harding, counsel for Ryan, and the international officials of the Iron Workers, held a long conference with Mr. Miller, but it was not disclosed what was considered.

Between now and the arraignment before Federal Judge Albert E. Anderson here on March 12, the Government will proceed with preparation for the trials which probably will be early in May. Some of the defendants, reported in various cities unable to procure bond, may be brought here within a week. It is said the government will question as many as possible. The Federal Grand Jury, which returned the indictments has not been dismissed, and it is said if any information warrants it, the jurors will be reconvened.

In this connection it is stated that while the government brought indictments only in such instances where it was expected a conviction would follow, many men were mentioned in the testimony who escaped indictment because of lack of evidence that the government may later come into possession of.

Ortie E. McManigal's confession as to the dynamiting he did under the direction of J. J. McNamara is said by District Attorney Miller to be corroborated by the letters embraced in the indictment charging "unconsummated acts of courtesy."

Ryan's letter, written from New York in April, 1910, is cited in the indictment as showing he instructed Henry W. Leggett, now of Denver, to do certain "jobs." John T. Butler, the first vice-president of the union, to do "jobs" at Buffalo and Rochester, N. Y.; Hookin to do "jobs" at Cleveland, Detroit, Davenport, Iowa, and Cincinnati; Paul J. Morris, St. Louis, to do a "job" at Mt. Vernon, Ill.; and Frank C. Webb of New York to do "jobs" at Worcester, Mass.

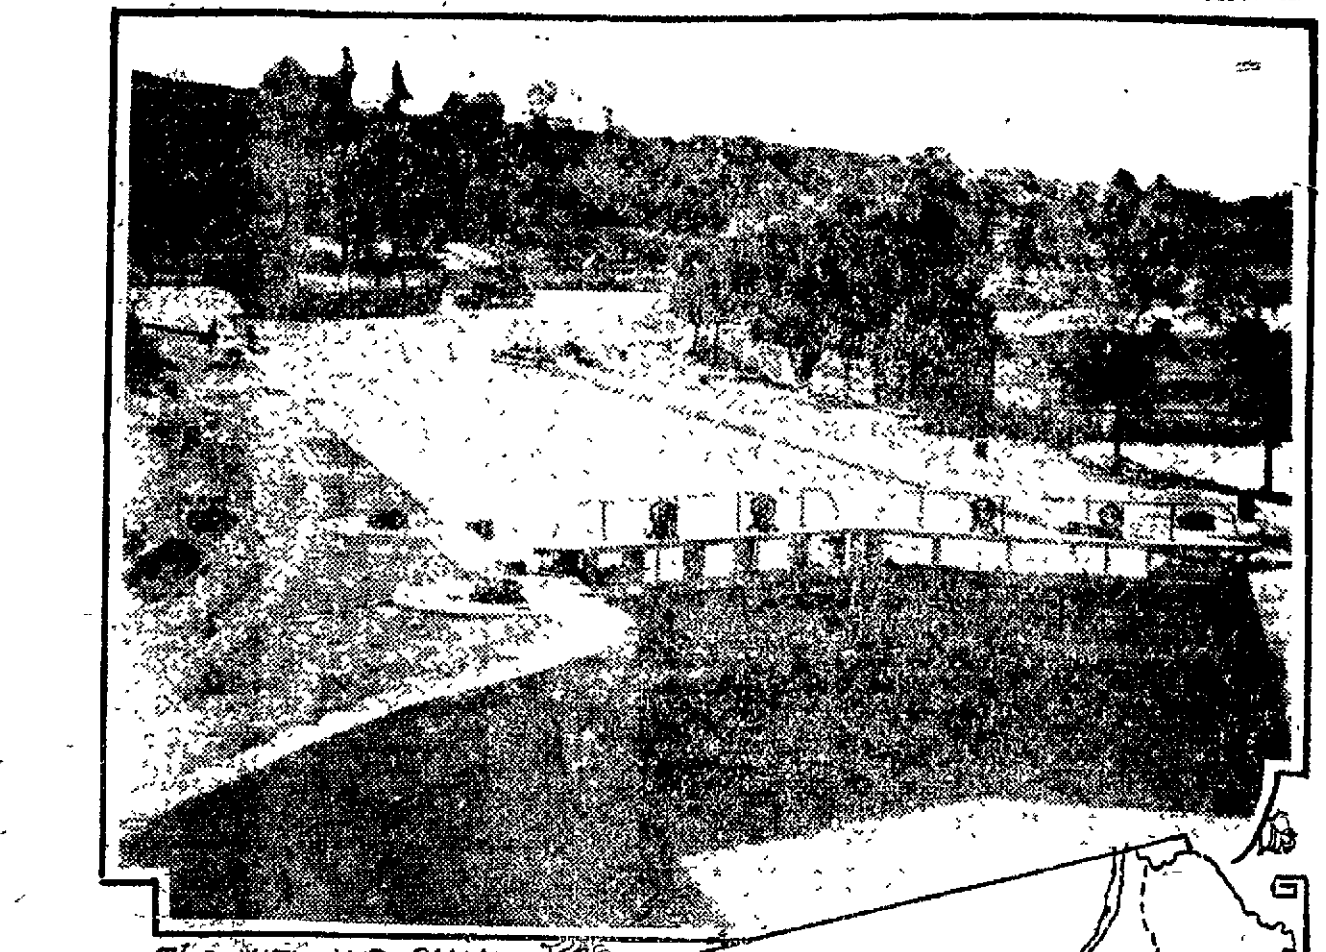

The indictments charging "consummated" or completed conspiracies allege that the "job" at Mt. Vernon, Ill., was dynamited on the night of April 19; that the Davenport "job" under construction by the company referred to by Ryan, was dynamited June 4; that the Peoria "job" was dynamited June 4; that the Cleveland "job" was dynamited on June 22; that the Pittsburgh "job" was dynamited July 15; that a bridge was dynamited at Kansas City on August 23.

"The testimony of McManigal, of witnesses from the cities in which the explosions occurred and of members of crews of trains upon which explosives were carried will be found to dovetail exactly with the letters alleged to show the unconsummated acts," said Mr. Miller. "Because McManigal was the most active agent of the dynamiters, though Hookin, as the indictment charges, was a close second the Government will rely largely upon his testimony for corroborative evidence at the trials."

"Others not named in the indictments are pointed to as having been connected with the plot, and early developments may bring their identity forward, but at present we are satisfied to try those against whom we are sure we have conclusive evidence."

Concerning letters quoted in the

UNITED STATES MAY JOIN CANADA IN SPENDING MILLION TO BRING OCEAN VESSELS AND THEIR COMMERCE INTO GREAT LAKES

THE WELLAND CANAL

Congressmen from states bordering on the Great Lakes are endeavoring to create sentiment in the House for an appropriation to aid the Canadian government in deepening and widening the Welland canal and St. Lawrence river to make the inland lakes accessible for ocean vessels. It is declared that a realization of their hopes would bring millions of dollars in added commerce annually to all the larger cities along the lakes. Canada is preparing to spend $30,000,000 in enlarging the Welland canal and planning an expenditure of from $15,000,000 to $100,000,000 on the St. Lawrence river.

indictment, Mr. Ryan said today: "It is unfair for the government to draw conclusions that those letters were written to promote crime. If any person reads all of them he will see that they refer only to legitimate means of inducing contractors to unionize their work."

PAN HANDLE TRAIN HELD UP AT LIGGETT, IND.

Terre Haute, Ind., Feb. 17.—Possessing the country have found no trace of the bandits who attempted to hold up the Vandallia New-York-St. Louis mail train No. 11 near Liggett, Ind., six miles west of here, last night. Because of more than an hour's delay in making up a special train to carry the posse to the scene and the cutting of the telegraph wires, the bandits secured a big start.

The bandit who fired four shots at the engineer, clipping the ashes from a cigar in his mouth, ran south while Conductor Edward Fayn says he saw four men running north from the railroad tracks. It is supposed that several of the bandits were hidden in the deep cut through which the train had just passed, but the plan to stop the train in the cut failed because of not knowing how to give the signal. No effort was made to break into the cars. The train was delayed two hours.

Terre Haute, Ind., Feb. 17.—Train bandits, who first cut the telegraph wires, last night held up and looted the New York-St. Louis mail train No. 11, on the Vandallia line, near Liggett, Ind.

The robbers halted the train at the edge of town and drove the members of the crew from their places. Engineer William Davis crawled from his cab and after some trouble communicated with the Terre Haute office that the robbers had entered one of the mail cars and were carrying out the pouches. He said the crew was powerless to prevent the robbery.

A special train was rushed from this city on receipt of the message, carrying police and a number of armed men.

The train held up near Liggett, Ind., Friday night, passes through Newark over the Panhandle at 2:55 o'clock p. m.

DESTINATION OF BOAT UNKNOWN

Washington, Feb. 17.—The destination of the armored cruiser West Virginia, which sailed from Honolulu yesterday, is still unknown outside of the naval circles. The vessel was fully coaled and carried provisions for a long voyage. Her destination is known to be neither China nor Mexico.

Oyster Bay is not shrouded in gloom on account of the LaFollette incident.

FOUR KILLED IN WRECK OF THE PENNSY LIMITED

Pt. Wayne, Ind., Feb. 17.—Four men were killed and 11 injured at 5:40 this morning when Pennsylvania Limited No. 5 westbound ran into a wreck train at Larwell, Ind., 25 miles west of here.

No one aboard the train was injured except the baggage man. The wreck was due to the fog. The wreck train had been stopped by a track man who reported a broken rail. While on investigation was being made the limited dashed into the caboose of the wreck train.

The engineer of the limited was unable to see the flagman who was sent back owing to the fog. The dead are E. C. Scump, S. Foutman, A. Bailey, Frank Wiggins. All are railroad employees and lived in Pt. Wayne.

Among the passengers on the Pennsylvania limited was Claude Taven-ner, of the sergeant-at-arms' office of the House. He was taking the body of his mother who had been killed in the Pennsylvania wreck at Huntington, Pa., to Cordova, Ill., for burial.

Mr. Tavenner, who was in the Huntington wreck, telegraphed here that he had again escaped uninjured.

ARE ESTABLISHING WIRELESS STATION

The Overland Wireless Telegraph company, which has arranged to establish a relay station in Newark, has a number of men now engaged in putting up the poles and wiring the apparatus, which is being set up on the Fleek-Zartman building on West Main street. The company expects to have the station in working order by the first of next month. It is said that stations will be established at Columbus, Newark, Zanesville and Wheeling, and that a rate of 25 cents for twenty words will be charged for service between the above mentioned stations. An Advocate reporter made an effort to see some of the men connected with the company but they were all out of the city Friday. It is understood that David Kerr, who has practical knowledge of the working of the system and who is an experienced operator, will be in charge of the Newark office.

HAPPENED IN DRY COUNTY

Springfield, Feb. 17.—A roadway has disappeared completely from sight. This is a phenomena of nature that prevails along the county line between Logan and Champaign counties. This roadway for a distance of 160 feet cannot be found and all that remains of it is a lake of clear water the depth of which ranges from 4 to 44 feet.

DEBATES ON TARIFF BILL

Washington, Feb. 17.—Debates on the Democratic tariff revision bill will begin Monday and Democratic Leader Underwood said he expected the general debates to be finished on that day. The bill will be reported for final action and passage on Tuesday. Protests were filed by the Republicans against the short time allowed for examination of the bill.

GIRL MURDERED BY STEPFATHER

Topeka, Kas., Feb. 17.—Evidence is accumulating that Clara Bell Stickney the 14 year girl, whose body was found with that of her step-father, John Ricketts, was murdered by Ricketts and that the man then shot himself. The officers have given up the search for a third person. Rickett attempted suicide a year ago and was known to be morbid and his father committed suicide. He was infatuated with the pretty young step-daughter, but she repulsed his advances. The girl was attacked on her way to school.

TO INVESTIGATE MILLIONAIRE'S DEATH

Sapulpa, Feb. 17.—Examination of the body of William Berryhill, a millionaire oil and land man, who died suddenly, was begun yesterday by physicians at the instigation of relatives, who believe the dead man to have been a victim of foul play. Sensational developments are expected when the final report is made. After the preliminary examination of Berryhill's body, the physicians held a conference, but the result of the finding was not made public.

FIFTH VICTIM OF PENNSY WRECK

Huntington, Pa., Feb. 17.—Henry Christian of York, a cook on one of the dining cars on the Pennsylvania limited, which was wrecked at Warriors Ridge yesterday, died at the hospital during the night. This makes the fifth death as the result of the accident.

HOLDING ELECTION AT UTICA

Also Voting in Washington Township Under the Beal Law

HEAVY VOTE BEING CAST

Village Went Wet by 61 Votes at Recent County Option Election.

Utica, Feb. 17.—Utica village and Washington township is voting today under the Beal law to determine whether the village and township want saloons. The vote is already heavy and there is every indication that practically every vote will be polled.

It is the belief of those familiar with the situation that the village will vote wet while the township will of course vote dry. The campaign has been very quiet. But few meetings have been conducted by the Law and Order league. Dave Warner, the Cop, a member of the Columbus police force, has spoken at two meetings and Mr. White, another Columbus man, also spoke under the auspices of the dries. No wet meetings have been held.

A portion of Utica village lies outside the corporate limits and the village and township election was held on the same day to prevent the possibility of some of the voters casting a ballot in one election, then moving across the street into the township and voting again in the township election.

The village voted wet at the Beal law election in January by a majority of 61 and there would have to be a change from wet to dry on the part of 31 voters to give the dries a majority. This is more than the dries feel able to overcome.

The wets used the argument on the business men that there were hundreds of dollars spent in Newark every week that might be kept at home if the village legalized the saloons.

RESTORE GRAY HAIR TO NATURAL COLOR

By Cinnamon Garden Sage, a Simple Remedy for Dandruff, Falling, Faded, Gray Hair.

The old idea of using Sage for darkening the hair is again coming in vogue. Our grandmothers had dark glossy hair at seventy-five, while our mothers are gray before they are fifty. Our grandmothers kept their hair soft and glossy with a "Sage Tea," which also restored the natural color.

One objection to using such a preparation was the trouble of making it. This objection has been overcome by the Wyeth Chemical Company of New York, who has placed on the market a superior preparation of Sage, combined with Sulphur and other valuable remedies for dandruff, itching scalp and thin, weak, falling hair.

The beauty of the hair depends more on its richness, even shading than anything else. Don't have dry, harsh, faded hair, when a simple, harmless remedy will bring back the color in a few days, and don't be tormented with dandruff, itching scalp and loose falling hairs. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy will quickly correct these troubles, and give

WEDDINGS

JONES-COX.
On the afternoon of February first,
in Rolla, Mo., at the home of the bride's brother, Dr. G. H. Cox, occurred
the marriage of Miss Edith Cox, daughter of Mrs. E. H. Cox of Salem, Oregon, to Mr. Grove Barclay Jones, son of Mrs. B. L. Jones of Granville, Ohio.
The ring service was performed by Dr.
G. J. Hunt. Owing to the recent death of the bride's father, only a few friends were present. The groom's mother, Mrs. B. L. Jones of Granville, was present.

The bride was attired in an embroidery lingerie gown and her long tulle veil was caught with orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of roses. Mrs. G. H. Cox who attended the bride wore white net over yellow.

Following the ceremony an elaborate luncheon was served, the table being profusely decorated with ropes of smilax and Jonquills. The color scheme of yellow and white was carried out in the refreshments served.
Many beautiful and useful presents
were received.

The bride is an accomplished musician, having been graduated from the School of Music of Northwestern University. She is also a graduate of the Liberal Arts Department of that institution where she took Phi Beta Kappa honors. Last year she was in charge of the voice department in the conservatory of Denison University.

The groom is a graduate of Denison University from which school he also received his M. S. degree. He is a member of Phi Gamma Delta fraternity.

Since his graduation he has been connected with the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

After a few days in St. Louis Mr.
and Mrs. Jones will visit at the home of the groom's mother.

RIGS DEMOLISHED IN MIXUP WITH INTERURBAN CAR

Coroner W. E. Wylarch was the central figure in an accident in West Main street shortly after noon Saturday, but luckily escaped serious injury, though his buggy was demolished.

Dr. Wylarch turned toward the curb to avoid an east bound interurban car. A man named Kline, driving a garbage wagon, attempted to pass the doctor's buggy and his wagon was sidwiped by the car. The vehicle was thrown with great force against Dr. Wylarch's buggy, overturning the outfit and dumping the physician in to the street.

Aside from a bruised knee, Dr.
Wylarch escaped uninjured. Kline was not hurt. Both horses miraculously escaped injury, but both rigs
were badly damaged.

Motorman Goff was in charge of the car and his repeated warnings
were not heard by Kline, who suffers from defective hearing.

having served 37 years.

NO TRACE OF HOLD UP MEN

New York, Feb. 17.—A police dragnet over the city has so far failed to track the gang of black jackers which has been working in the open street
and making way with booty aggregating many thousands of dollars. The police have no clew connected with the hold up of George Hart, a diamond dealer, who was black-jacked and robbed of a bag of unset diamonds
which he carried, valued at $10,000.
The robbers escaped in a big auto.

GRAHAM GILMORE KILLED IN FALL FROM AIRSHIP

London, Feb. 17.—Graham Gilmore,
one of the best known British aviators,
was instantly killed when he fell from his new aeroplane at a height of 380
feet. He was testing a new monoplane at Brooklands and was traveling at a rate of 60 miles an hour. The machine suddenly buckled up and dropped to the ground.

"There's a Reason"

We want you to try the Best Milk in the Biggest Can

Not Yet Too Late

THE FREE COUPON printed in yesterday's paper will be accepted as 5c cash in part payment for a 10-cent, 16-ounce tall can of Every Day Evaporated Milk any time before the stores close tonight.

If you have not already done so, get the paper, cut out the coupon, hand it to your grocer with 5c, and he will give you in exchange the largest can of the best milk ever sold for 10c.

If you have a credit account your grocer will give you the milk just the same as if you tendered 5c cash with your coupon, and will enter a charge of only 5c in your pass book.

Give Every Day Evaporated Milk a thorough test when preparing your Sunday Dinner. Use it for any purpose that requires the richest milk or cream. You will not be disappointed.

For ordinary purposes add three pints of water to the pint of Every Day Evaporated Milk contained in a tall can, thus making two full quarts of milk. If you want a richer milk or cream for fruits, cereals, or for any special dish, add a smaller quantity of water. The less water you add the richer the milk will be.

Every Day Evaporated Milk is unsweetened and is used satisfactorily for cooking and baking,
in coffee or cocoa, for feeding
infants, in fact, for every purpose that requires pure, clean,
rich, wholesome, sterilized milk.

Take your coupon to your grocer now—before you forget it. Ask him for our little recipe book,
"Some Every Day Dishes and How to Prepare Them." It tells how to prepare 35 useful and appetizing dishes for every day in the week.

MOTION DAY IN COURT OF COMMON PLEAS

Number of Cases Submitted and Opinions Will Be Handled
Down Monday.

Saturday was motion day in common pleas court and all cases on the pleas list were submitted to the court, and in addition the court called the docket for motions and de-murrers and a large number of cases were taken under advisement. The court will render its opinion in these cases Monday morning.

Answer Filed.
In the case of Wm. E. Swartz vs.
the B. & O. R. R. Co., to recover damages for an injury to a horse and damages to a wagon belonging to the plaintiff at the Church street crossing on July 3, the defendant on Saturday, through its attorneys, Kibler & Kibler, filed an answer denying any negligence in the running of its trains, but alleging that the accident was caused by the negligence of the plaintiff in driving on the crossing in full view of an approaching train.

Demurrer and Brief Filed.
To the second amended petition filed by plaintiff in the case of Albert Flinn vs. the Jewett Car Co., the defendant has filed a demurrer
and brief in support of same, which raises the legal question that the amended petition does not state a cause of action in favor of plaintiff.
The case involves the question of damages to plaintiff from an injury
while he was operating one of the power driven machines used in defendant's factory. Kibler & Kibler represent the defendant.

Decree Granted.
Judge Hunter Saturday morning
granted a decree of divorce to Zella Skeen from "Ralph" Skeen on the grounds of cruelty and drunkenness.
She was also restored to her maiden
name of Zella Van Huffelle.

Common Pleas Court.
In Common Pleas Court the following cases were disposed of Friday afternoon:

In the case of Ohio vs. John Siss, charged with selling intoxicating liquors and keeping a place where sold in August, 1911, in this city, the court
after hearing the testimony, found the defendant guilty. Motion for a new trial set for hearing Feb. 24th.

State of Ohio vs. Samuel R. Walker, indicted for failure to provide for minor children, defendant ordered to pay $20 a month for the support of the children.

There was a wonderful change for the better in Philadelphia when bank cashiers gave up wearing high silk hats.

HEALTH HINT FOR TODAY.

Helpful In Eczema Cases.
Whatever local treatment may be used in the treatment of eczema, diet is of fundamental importance. The most important change is to omit flesh entirely and to exclude all stimulants and condiments, including salt and pepper. Exclusive diets of buttermilk, fruits and unpolished rice, each continued for several days, according to the individual requirements, always prove beneficial. A tablespoonful of ground bran should be mixed with the rice if it causes constipation. At least two quarts of water should be drunk daily, distilled if the supply contains much mineral or vegetable matter.

NEWARK HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

Supt. Hawkins was away Thursday attending the funeral of his wife's mother at Unionport, Ohio.

The girls' basketball team has been organized for the present with Eva Warner as captain, Katherine Butler, Olive Nichols, Gladys Keener, Florence Lemert, Grace Jones, Mary Simpson and Hazel Kelly are the players. They played South High Friday evening with Miss Gladys
Jones as chaperone, while Mr. Stinson went along to act as an official.

Supt. Hawkins gave two addresses before the teachers of the county today. The subject in the morning was "Elements of Success in the Teacher," while the one in the afternoon was "Child Study."

Principal E. H. White of Zanesville and Principal C. H. Winans of Mt. Vernon met Prof. Barnes and Mr.

Rheumatism

Is A Constitutional Disease.

It manifests itself in local aches and pains—inflamed joints and stiff muscles—but it cannot be cured by local applications.
It requires constitutional treatment,
and the best is a course of the great blood purifying and tonic medicine

Hood's Sarsaparilla

which corrects the acid condition of the blood and builds up the system.
Get it today in usual liquid form or chocolate tablets called Sarsatabs.

Patterson at the Hotel Warden today
at 2:00 o'clock to select the judges for the coming debate. The time is drawing near for this most enthusiastic event, the High School debate.

Miss Allen, Miss Jones and Mr.
Tait have been appointed as an arranging committee to attend to the arrange-ing of the pictures of the High School and all other matters relating to such a committee.

Supt. Hawkins gave a spelling test to the seventh and eighth grades and the High School yesterday morning.
One of the important affairs of the High School is the fixing up of Room 19 as a place for the two literary societies, the Thalian and Athenian. A handsome rug has been secured
through the efforts of both societies.
Curtains are being hung, fashioned
by the Thalian girls, and now the arrival of the chairs and table is ear-gely awaited for.

Would that we could have the High School lawn made beautiful this spring and summer? By the united efforts of the pupils to keep off the lawn this may be done.

Patriotic programs will be given in each room next Wednesday in honor of Washington and Lincoln.

A questionnaire was filled out by Seniors and Juniors this week. The questions asked are: Do you expect to continue your education after graduation from the high school?
What school do you desire to attend?
If you are not intending to go to some school of higher learning, what work do you expect to do? The results will be printed later.

$100 REWARD, $100.
The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength
by rebuilding the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its cure that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

BOY'S NIGHT AT THE Y. M. C. A.

Beginning Sunday afternoon, February 18th, at 2:00 a special boy's Bible study campaign is to be opened at the Y. M. C. A. There will be ten meetings, one every Sunday afternoon until April 21. An inducement is offered every boy who meets certain requirements. If a boy attends eight out of the ten meetings
he is given a night, free of charge,
at the Y. M. C. A. Among the many things which will be open for his enjoyment are the gymnasium, swimming pool and games in the boys'
room. The pleasure of the evening will be closed with a banquet.
This is one of the greatest attempts to line the boys up for Sunday afternoon meetings that has been instituted this year.

The general meeting will be conducted as heretofore.
The very best moving pictures will be run in the Auditorium and this will be followed by a talk by some prominent men and songs by the boys. Ten competent men have been secured to take charge of the boys in an after meeting. Each man will have from 20 to 50 boys and will give them talks which they will enjoy and which will remain with them throughout life. A study will be made of the heroes of the Bible and life lessons for the boys will be drawn by the leader of each group.
All these meetings have been planned for the boys and everything possible
is being done. The tenth Sunday,
however, will be the tents meeting of the series. No boy can afford to miss a single meeting. The boy who will attend all of these meetings will be the happiest boy in the city.

SUNDAY WILL BE BUSY DAY FOR DR. SPENCER

Four Meetings Scheduled for Evangelist at the Central Church of Christ.

For nearly two weeks Rev. I. J.
Spencer has been conducting a gospel campaign with Rev. W. D. Ward in the Central Church of Christ. Every night crowds have listened to the inspiring sermons of Dr. Spencer, which never fail to bring the vital principles of the gospel home
to the reason and heart of the audience. The sermons are aimed not so much to persuade men to begin the Christian life as they are to deepen, broaden and intensify it.
The Bible becomes a living reality,
a burning and shining light, and a new power in the soul toward God
for those attending this series of meetings.

"The Worst Sin in the World,"
the subject last night, means the rejection of Christ, the only Savior.
Men rejected him when he lived
among them in the flesh and found a second chance to receive him after his resurrection and glorification through the spirit. To commit the unpardonable sin is to turn away
from the Lord, the only Redeemer,
to turn from the light, duty and opportunity of walking with God. Sins,
too great to be conquered by men,
are overcome through the indwell-
ing Christ in the hearts of his followers. Men are possessed either of God or Satan. The good and evil forces in the universe are in perpetual conflict. Every man is subject to the one or the other, as he may elect. If he yield to evil his base-ness often astonishes and alarms him. If he submit his heart to the gospel, to the spiritual power of God
and his church, with its loving fellowship, he is surprised and delighted with his growth Godward. He may mount upward as on the wings
of angels and find his erstwhile famished soul becoming a fertile garden of God. Every man holds the key of his destiny in his own hand. Happy indeed is he who opens to Christ,
knocking at his door for entrance
and for the bestowal of abundant life.

Dr. Spencer will speak four times tomorrow. He will speak at the Sunday school hour, at the morning
and night worship, and will deliver a special message to men at 2:30 on the subject, "God's Love and Hope for the Worst Men." The public is invited.

THE HERPICIDE GIRL

Says Everyone Can Have Beautiful Hair.

I am really ashamed of some of my girl friends when I look at their hair. There is no sense in having such looking heads. It simply shows that while they may be scrupulously neat in every other way, they are careless about their hair.

"Thin, scraggy, wispy hair generally indicates dandruff and dandruff is caused by a germ. Newbro's Herpicide will kill that germ and keep the scalp as clean and healthy as can be.
This permits the hair to grow naturally and luxuriantly. That terrible itching which goes with dandruff stops with almost the first application.

Substitutes or remedies said to be
"just as good" are sometimes offered,
but it is better to buy the genuine original germ killer, Newbro's Herpicide. There is no guesswork about this preparation. A trial isn't necessary, just buy a bottle and use it.
The results are sure to be better than you expect.

For sale at drug stores. One dollar size bottles are guaranteed. Applications obtained at the better barber shops. Send 10c in postage for

NEW YORK SEEKS VICE PRESIDENCY

Several Democratic Candidates
For Second Place.

SHERMAN FOR RENOMINATION.

How Empire State May Swing Baltimore Convention—Senator Bourne Thinks Roosevelt Will Win—School-
masters Who Have Been President, Clark and Wilson College Heads.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.
Washington, Feb. 17.—[Special.]—
New York may not be doing much with presidential timber; but, according to Congressman Ayres of the Bronx district, the state has no fewer than eight men who would like to be named for vice president on the Democratic ticket. And if Taft is nominated Jim Sherman will be a candidate for a second term, according to his friends.
At the same time it proves far better than anything else the impotence of
New York in national conventions.
Ayres will not admit this, but asserts
that in the coming national convention,
when Harmon and Wilson are about even, with Clark a good third and Undervood, Marshall, Foss and perhaps others trailing, New York at the proper time with ninety votes will be able to determine who shall be nominated for president. Even so, it will not be a New York man, and, what is more, it will always be claimed that New York waited and tried to get on the band wagon.

The Number of Electors.
There is quite a lot of misinformation about the exact number of electors who will choose the next president and vice president of the United States. There will be 532 electors, making 267 necessary for a choice.
This includes four in New Mexico and three in Arizona. In many computations both these states are counted as territories, and in others New Mexico is credited with only one member of the house when she has two.

Pacifying Southern Neighbors.

Edhu Root as secretary of state began touring our neighboring southern republics to assure them of our good will. Now Philander C. Knox is following the same course, but on a different route. At a dinner just before he left for his southern visit Secretary
Knox was introduced by the toastmaster as "the family physician for South America, who administers paregoric to the dyspeptic stomachs of all the republics south of us."

Bourne's Prediction.
"If Teddy comes out with a statement there will be nothing to it. He will be nominated hands down." The remark was made by Senator Jonathan Bourne of Oregon, who four years ago supported Roosevelt and originated the "second effective term" theory. Bourne has been for La Follette, but he thinks Roosevelt the strongest man.

Without the Stars and Bars.

Residents of Washington of southern birth or ancestry have formed what is known as the Southern society and will hold their first annual banquet on Washington's birthday. The list of invitations includes prominent men from many of the southern states, who will represent Dixie and clubs and societies.
It has been announced that the stars and bars emblem of the old south will not be displayed, though it has heretofore been a feature of practically every gathering of this kind.
It is significant to note that Ambassador Bryce has accepted an invitation
and will respond to the toast "Washington." The singing of plantation songs and negro monologues will be prominent on the program.

Pedagogues For President.

The fact that two former school-
teachers, Woodrow Wilson and Champ Clark, are now candidates for president calls attention to the fact that several past presidents were schoolteachers. Andrew Jackson did some schoolteaching in a rough way, though his fame for illiteracy is well known.
John Adams was a polished type of instructor. Abraham Lincoln tried the country schoolmaster experience while struggling for an education, and President Garfield was famous as a teacher and a college president. Grover Cleveland, Chester A. Arthur and William McKinley all had a turn at the teacher's desk, and Cleveland was a lecturing professor at Princeton after leaving the White House.

College Fraternity Men.

New York city members of the college fraternity Delta Tau Delta gave a banquet in honor of members of congress belonging to the society. It developed into a surprise party for a dozen or more of the statesmen who left the legislative atmosphere long enough to renew the associations of their youthful college days. Speaker
Clark, Minority Leader Mann, Mr.

Trace the outline on the paper, and then try to make a human face out of the pencil marks. Many amusing results are thus obtained, and other

by moving the candle to another position or crumpling the paper in a different shape.

These are a few which the artist
did just to show the young readers
how. Of course only the outlines are furnished, so that the readers must draw in the eyes, hair and ears from their own imagination.

PASTIME OF ONE SYLLABLE

Game to Be Conducted Properly Requires That Company Be Seated In Circle—How Played.

To conduct this game properly the company should be seated in a circle,
a lady and gentleman alternately. A lady begins by asking a question of her right-hand neighbor, to which he must reply by a word of ONE SYLLA-BLE, or he incurs a forfeit for each extra syllable.

First Lady—Permit me, sir, to ask
if you love music?

First Gent.—Yes. (He then questions the next person on his right.)
Pray, madam, what word do you think
the best for making chairs?

Second Lady—Oak. Please tell me, sir, who thinks himself the best and
wittiest man in the world?

Second Gent.—I. Tell me, Mary, do you like hot weather?

Third Lady—No. What kind of people do you think prosper most in the world?

Third Gent.—Fools. Have you much
sand in your composition?

Fourth Lady—None. Are you very romantic?

Fourth Gent.—No. But which is the handsomer, you or me?

Fifth Lady—I. What sort of a girl
do you think I am?

Fifth Gent.—Mad. Do you like red or white wine best?

Sixth Lady—Red. Now, Edward, are you fond of sugar-plums?

Sixth Gent.—Rather.
This is a word of two syllables and subjects the speaker to a forfeit.

A forfeit is also incurred when a question or answer once made is repeated.

The game may be continued as long as the interest keeps up.

They Didn't Count.

Small Harold was watching a regiment of soldiers marching by, headed by a band. "Mamma," said he, "what's the use of all them soldiers that don't make music?"

What's the Use?

Sunday School Teacher—Scatter
seeds of kindness.
Johnny Sububs—What's the use?
The chickens will get 'em.

SOCIETY

One of the most enjoyable of the Valentine festivities was a surprise six o'clock dinner party given Miss Frances L. Lane at her home in Seventh street on Wednesday evening. The dining room was artistically decorated with hearts and Cupids, the color scheme being pink and white. The two tables were daintily arranged with center pieces of pink and white carnations and candles.

Those enjoying the dinner were: Miss Frances Lane, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Rawlings, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Lane, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Garrity, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Collier, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Lane, Miss Ethel Lane, Messrs. George Lane Garrity, Wilfred Orville and Charles Rawlings and George Lane, Jr. Miss Frances was the recipient of sixty-four valentines.

One of the events of the past week was a Valentine party given to the girls of Bliss college by Miss Rachel Rhoads at her home in West Locust street, Wednesday evening. The evening was spent in games and music. In the heart hunt Miss Lenora Sachs received the first prize and Sarah Ryan the consolation.

At a late hour delicious refreshments were served to the following: Misses Blanche Bushaw, Alma Hamlin, Helen Wintermantle, Emma Morton, Cora Osborn, Martha Stuber, Ida Phillips,

HEART AND HOME TALKS

BY BARBARA BOYD

Some of Women's Queer Little Ways

WOMEN certainly have some traits that seem a peculiarity of the feminine nature," said a masculine member of the group around the fireplace.

"Why this bit of sage philosophy," inquired one of the women. "She bought a suit today at Blank's, and then immediately chased around to all the other stores to see if she could have done better."

"Why didn't she look first?" interrupted one of the party.

"She happened in at Blank's, and they were having a sale of suits, and one struck her as a particularly good bargain. So she grabbed it in spite of the frenzied clutch of another woman, and triumphantly ordered it home. I met her on the street right after her purchase, and she was making a home-run, then for the other stores to see if she really had a bargain or not. Now I call that hunting trouble. She knew she had a goodlooking suit for less than it usually cost. So why not let it go at that and enjoy her stroke of economy."

"Well, if afterward she happened to see a better suit for less money, she would feel awfully bad, and she just had to know, or she would be chewing it over all the time inside of her," volunteered a woman. "I know just how she felt."

The other women nodded. "And if she did find a better one, she could return the one she had bought," explained one.

"By that time, the other might be gone," suggested another.

The women sighed. "Shopping is difficult," they agreed.

"Not at all," said the man somewhat heatedly, "unless you make it so. You women just hunt trouble. Now she had a bargain, and why not be satisfied. But no, she must chase out to see if she couldn't make herself dissatisfied with it."

"That isn't exactly it," interrupted one of the party. "A man never would understand just how a woman feels about such a matter. But I will admit that some women do hunt trouble. I have a friend whose husband happened to mention his stenographer, and immediately she rushed down town to his office, took a good hard look at his queen of the keys, and then went home and began to worry about her wrinkles. And I don't suppose the poor, dear man could tell whether his stenographer has red hair or green. But she is just sitting home worrying herself into gray hair about it."

"It's quite true," said another, "some women pass most of their lives on bridges. They no sooner cross one, than they start in on another. If little Johnnie Smith gets diphtheria, Mrs. Brown is quite sure her Willie is going to have it, and makes the child's life unendurable with the commands she lays upon him. Some women look confidently forward to ending their days in the poorhouse, and are quite dismal all their life because of the prospect."

"It's just one of our queer little ways," said one of the party, "and I suppose we wouldn't be women if we didn't have them. But I must say I appreciate your sister's feeling about her suit. If I had bought it, I am quite sure I should have done exactly the same thing."

"Here, too," said the women in chorus.

Barbara Boyd.

passed into the dining room which was prettily decorated and lighted with candles, found their place cards and enjoyed a delicious menu.

Each one was pleased with the games which followed, especially the two prize contests. In the one contest Mr. Hays won the first prize and Clara McCament the booby prize. In the other contest, Miss Frye and Ina Wiggins won the first prize and Prof. Sunderland the booby prize. At a late hour the guests departed, after each receiving a little souvenir of the occasion and assuring the hostess of the exceedingly pleasant evening which they had spent together.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Flory entertained with an informal dinner party on Friday evening at their West Church street home. Covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. Tom Jones, Mr. and Mrs. John Roe, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Flory, Mr. and Mrs. Seth Haight, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Browne and daughter Virginia, Mrs. Earl Haight of Bucyrus and Mr. George Flory.

One of the prettiest social affairs that has been held in Granville during the past week was the progressive dinner given by the Owl club to a number of their gentlemen friends on Tuesday evening. This club is composed of a number of the young ladies of Denison university and on Tuesday evening, chaperoned by Professor and Mrs. Brumback, they gave their first stunt of this kind, which proved to be even more successful than they had anticipated.

After having been entertained at a number of places in the village most charmingly the Misses Linton and Spade of Columbus entertained them with the last course at the home of Mrs. W. A. Mitchell, on East Broadway.

Here all the appointments were most delightfully suggestive of Valentine Day, all the arrangements having been planned with a thought of the day. Throughout the apartments strands of red hearts decorated every advantageous point.

The tables were beautifully decorated with red carnations and small individual red candles occupied a position at each place, while other candles of the same color were placed at different points on the tables.

A pretty little red Valentine box filled with heart candies was placed at each place. On the top of each box was seated a pretty doll dressed all in red, which afforded much fun. The entire evening was replete with social charms and enjoyment, and those who participated will long remember the pleasures that were derived from the Owl's first progressive Valentine dinner.

A very pretty birthday party was given in honor of Miss Gretchen Lederer at her home in Manning street, Wednesday evening. A very enjoyable time was had by all, the evening being spent in music, games and dancing.

Those who presided at the piano were Misses Helen Africa, Laura Shultz, Evelyn Canfield and Marie Lederer. A guessing contest was indulged in, Stanley Neighbour being the lucky contestant, while Miss Louise Africa held the consolation prize.

At a late hour a dainty luncheon was served to the following guests: Misses Maud Carpenter, Esther Robinson, Agnes Burton, Laura Shultz, Opal McDonald, Louise Africa, Charlotte Andrews, Marie Chester, Evelyn Canfield, Helen Africa, Marie Bourner, Selma Morrison, Marie Lederer, Gretchen Lederer, Messrs. Paul Cosway, Curtis Broome, Dwight Winters, Ralph Shaw, Earl Canfield, Charles Hagen, James Copeland, Jack Cada, Stanley Neighbour, Frank Garrison, Leo McDonald, Percy Copeland, Louis McDonald, Ben Harris, and Paul Lederer. Those that assisted Mrs. Lederer were Mrs. Alice Lederer, Mrs. W. E. Burton, Mrs. S. S. Morrison, Mrs. Will Cooper and Miss Bertha Lederer.

A winter picnic was given by the members of the Sesame club on Thursday afternoon at the home of Miss Louise Andrews in High street. Following the business hour a delicious dinner was served in picnic fashion. The feature of the afternoon was the toasts proposed by the members with Mrs. Rhoda Anderson acting as toastmistress. The guests of the club were Mrs. Glen Darlinghouse, Mrs. Dan Doughty and Mrs. Jones of Hebron.

The Misses Margaret and Sara Bennett entertained the members of the Street Baptist church Thursday evening. The time was merrily spent with guessing contests and music.

A dainty luncheon was served to the following members: Misses Gladys Thompson, Ruth Weaver, Mona Stevens, Mrs. Helmeke, Mrs. Dewar, Joanna Browne, Elizabeth King, Mrs.

Loughridge, Miss Pickering, Misses Jesse Bartholomew, Martha Sundry, Mrs. Pickering, Miss Maude Sanford, Messrs. James Loughridge, James Armentrout, Durham Plyler, Paul Weaver, George Bennett, Mrs. Bennett and the two hostesses.

Miss Elizabeth Factor was the hostess of a Valentine party Wednesday evening at her home in Hoover street. The evening was spent in games and music and a delicious luncheon was served to the following guests: Frances Swern, Ruby Jones, Marie Homer, Thelma Klingler, Mabel Spettel, Relna Mayers, Raymond Jarvis, Lewis Palmer, Theodore Bodle, Charles Mayers, Carl Prior, Fred Preston and Misses Elizabeth, Clara and Dora Factor.

A surprise party was perpetrated on Miss Rose Mary Floyd at her home in East Main street on Friday evening, the occasion being the twenty-first birthday anniversary of Miss Floyd. The evening was spent in games and the guests presented the hostess with a pretty ring.

A delicious reception was served the following guests: Misses Grace Dennison, Marjory Fisher, Helen Stapleton, Bessie Rafferty, Nellie Floyd, Catherine Frye, Alma Hamlin, May Connelly, Pearl Nutter, Bernice Floyd, Messrs. Walter Early, William Anderson, George Pieri, Howard Miller, Edward Smith, Homer Robinson, Lawrence Prior and Walter Greely.

The Colonial Sewing circle entertained with a winter picnic at the home of Mrs. William Burton in Woods avenue on Thursday afternoon. A picnic dinner was served at one o'clock and the afternoon hours were devoted to music and games. In the guessing contest souvenirs were received by Mrs. William Daries and Mrs. Charles Lederer.

The guests were Mesdames Daries, Frankenberg, Chester Gelfinger, Kemp, Morrison, Cooper, Irwin, Schultz, Burton, McNeely, Lederer. The guest of the club was Mrs. Cora Evans.

Miss Mary Stump is the entertaining hostess for the Research club this afternoon. Miss Stump is entertaining at the home of Mrs. E. S. Randolph in West Church street. The following program has been arranged:

Quotations, "As You Like It"—Miss Haughey.

AS YOU LIKE IT.

Story of the play—Mrs. McMullen. Character sketches: Rosalind, Mrs. Kilpatrick; Celia, Mrs. Bissell; Orlando, Miss Kilpatrick; Duke, Miss Vance; Touchstone, Mrs. Slinger. Piano Solo—Miss Vance. Book Review—Miss Owen. Critic—Mrs. Randolph.

Mrs. Claude Messenger was hostess to the Myrtle club on Friday afternoon at her home in Gay street. A valentine box and the guessing contest afforded much amusement, after which luncheon was served.

The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Fred Schneider, February 29.

The annual play of the Monday Talks will be given under the direc-

WONDERFUL CURE OF SCALP DISEASE

Hair Came Out in Patches, Goodhair Soap Brought Prompt Relief.

"I have had Eczema on my scalp for twenty years. Have doctored with several doctors, but with no permanent good results. The first time I used Goodhair Soap I had a cure. I had a patch of scalp as large as a silver half dollar. I was scared and thought I wouldn't have any hair if I continued to use the soap. I was told it was only the dead hair that had come away. I continued to use the Soap, and now, after three months, all those bald spots are covered with a good growth. My hair is better than ever. I have no Eczema, and my scalp never itches."

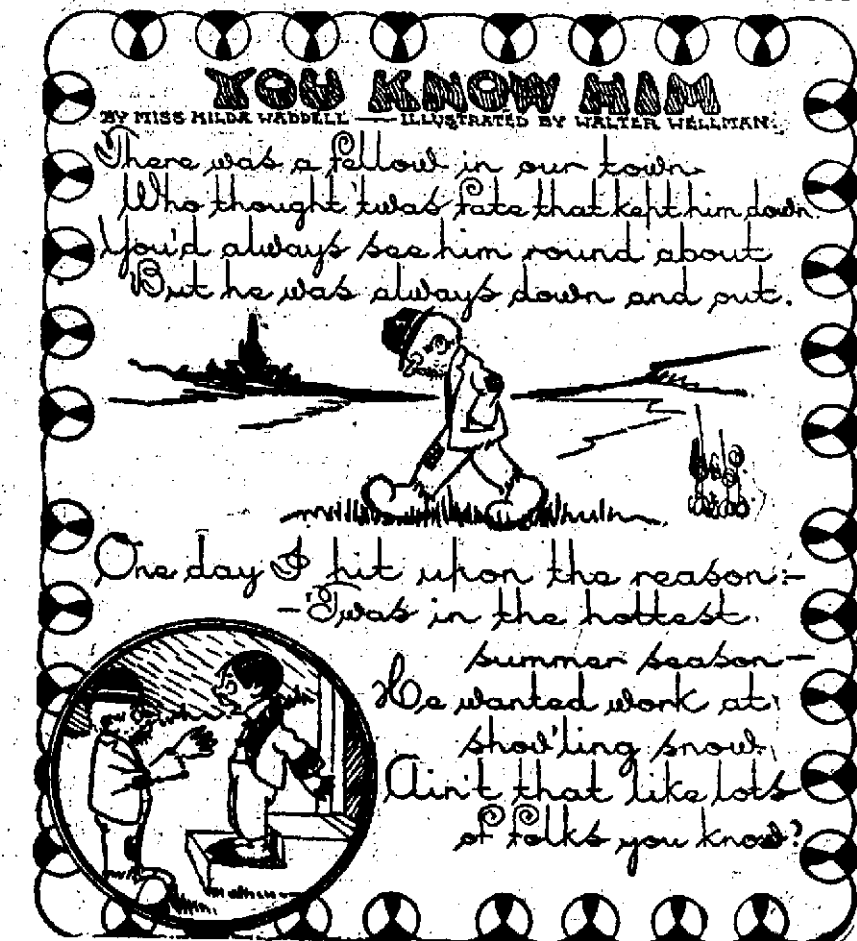

Yours respectfully,
HENRY STEFFEN,

Wilson, Arden Knight, Wayne Overturn, Paul Collins, Carl Siegel, Carl Heck, George Upson, Donald Vail, Gaylord Mercer, Emerson Miller, Royal Keyes, D. A. Fulk and Mr. Gardner of Granville, William Walters, of Columbus, and William Schoellkopf of Columbus. The party was chaperoned by Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Scheid-ler.

The country home of Mrs. Samuel Swan one and one-half miles east of the city, was the scene of much merry making by the members of the Wednesday Afternoon Sewing and Reading club who were conveyed there in a job sled on the regular club day. The job sled was pleasantly spent in needle work and social conversation, after which the hostess served a two course dinner. The only guest of the club was Mrs. Jones. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Fred Squiggins, in East Main street on February 28.

The Thimble Betty club met at the home of Mrs. Louis Kerr on North Fourth street Thursday afternoon. After spending the hour in sewing, a dainty luncheon was served by the hostess.

The members present were: Mesdames E. C. Criss, Frank Woolson, Guy Fisher, Raymond Smith, James Starr, John Danner, Ink, Lay, H. C. Gerlach, Grafton. The guest was Miss Florence Schott of Prazesburg.

Of all the delightful sleigh ride parties of the season none was more thoroughly enjoyed than that of the West Locust Street Masquerade club last Tuesday evening, when to the number of twenty-six started for the Brookdale farm to partake of a chicken dinner. They were cordially greeted by Mr. and Mrs. Mattingly and after removing their wraps were ushered into the commodious dining room, where a delicious five course dinner was served. As the party arose from the table Mr. Mattingly suggested to clear the room of tables and chairs and they had an old fashioned dance.

Daddy's Bedtime Story

The Lively Little Fisherman That Provides Mink Muffs

Mink With a Fish.

VELYN had been telling about the fine new muff one of her school-mates had been given.

"It's a mink muff and just too sweet for anything," she remarked.

"What's mink anyway?" growled Jack. Muffs did not interest him.

"Why, mink's fur!" Evelyn answered.

"Fur?" repeated Jack; "fur of what? Where did it come from?"

Evelyn looked to daddy to answer this question.

"The mink is a little animal that is found most anywhere in the northern part of our country."

"The creature is about fifteen or eighteen inches long, a relation to the weasel and the skunk and shaped something like they are.

"It lives along brooks and rivers in a burrow or hole in the bank. Its food is fish when it can get fish and frogs or small animals when fish is not to be had.

"The mink will take birds, and sometimes it will go for the farmer's poultry.

"So when a country boy sees a mink near the farm he is apt to try very hard to catch it.

"The mink is a cruel little animal itself and can fight bravely if cornered.

"The mink is a very fine fisherman. His way of getting the fish is to trot along the bank of the stream until he sees one; then he will dive after it.

"He can swim under water as well as the fish, and if it tries to hide under a log or in a grotto under the water the mink swims right after it and, grabbing it in his strong jaws, soon makes short work of it.

"The Indians of British America, which is way up north, admire the mink very much. Indian mothers have a lullaby which they sing to their little ones, and it goes something like this:

"See the merry mink there diving
In the water clear and cool,
For the speckled salmon seeking
In the lily crested pool."

"Although the fur of the northern mink is much finer than that of the animals found in milder regions, mink can live in almost any of our northern states.

"In winter Mother Nature gives the mink a thick and handsome coat, and it is then that trappers set traps to catch him.

"No matter how cruel the mink may be these traps are more cruel still, for the poor beast is held a living captive, sometimes for several days, till the trapper makes his rounds and puts him out of his misery."

ENDS STOMACH TROUBLE AND INDIGESTION

The correct name for your trouble is Food Fermentation—food souring; the Digestive organs become weak, there is lack of gastric juice; your food is only half digested, and you become affected with loss of appetite, pressure and fullness after eating, vomiting, nausea, heartburn, griping in bowels, tenderness in the pit of stomach, bad taste in mouth, constipation, pain in limbs, sleeplessness, belching of gas, biliousness, sick headache, nervousness, dizziness or many other similar symptoms.

If your appetite is feeble and nothing tempts you, or you belch gas, or if you feel bloated after eating, or your food lies like a lump of lead on your stomach, you can make up your mind that at the bottom of all this there is but one cause—fermentation of undigested food.

Prove to yourself in five minutes that your stomach is as good as any; that there is nothing really wrong. Stop this fermentation and begin eating what you want without fear of discomfort or misery.

Almost instant relief is waiting for you. It is merely a matter of how soon you take a little Diapepsin.

Water Break Repaired.

A break in the old water main at Sixth and Granville streets which occurred Thursday evening, was repaired today and the water was again turned into the mains. The residents on Granville street between Sixth and Thirteenth and on Woods avenue were without water service for a short time. The break resulted from the great weight of the new main resting on the old with no support provided.

THE DRAFT HORSE'S PLACE

THE raising of draft horses fits nicely in with the work of the general farm. There the draft mare really is a dual purpose animal, doing a double work. She works regularly in the field and she raises a colt that will become one of the most profitable outputs of the farm. Where care is exercised in handling the mare, giving her the lighter and slower work, apparently just as good colts are raised as where the mare is kept in idleness.

The draft colt is very easily handled and broken. He is quiet and docile about the farm. When the youngster has reached a sufficient age and size to be started to work he requires only a lesson or two until he is ready to be put to regular use. This is another big point in the farmer's mind in favor of draft horses. With drivers it takes months of steady training to fit one of them for market or even for regular use. The farmer has neither time nor desire to fret and fuss with an animal in the way that is necessary in breaking a driver. That is a work for a man of special ability, who will make a business of producing and training driving horses.

FORCING RHUBARB IN WINTER

BY L. M. MONTGOMERY,
Professor of Horticulture, Ohio State University.

MANY gardeners and the majority of agriculturists are not aware of the fact that one of the most agreeable table delicacies may be grown during the cold winter months without special equipment. Such a delicacy is found in rhubarb, the stalks of which may be abundantly and cheaply produced at a season when such a relish is much desired. The stalks when well grown furnish the material for the most beautiful, beautiful and tasteful of desserts.

The processes of production are very simple, being easily supplied by the most humble home.

The requirements are: First, a quantity of strong, healthy rhubarb crowns with roots intact; and, second, a dry, moderately warm pit, cave or cellar. The crowns used are preferably those two or three years of age. However, many gardeners are able to raise plants from seed in a single season, which will be large enough for use the succeeding winter. Old, over-crowded and diseased roots are not worth using, as the result is likely to be the development of a large number of long, slender stalks of inferior worth.

It is important to know that in the forcing of rhubarb in winter all growth takes place as a result of congenial conditions with respect to temperature and moisture, which operate to renew the activities of the rhubarb crowns in such a way as to cause the development of stalks from the food materials stored in the roots, largely as starch during the growing season. It should be remembered that there is no additional food taken up by the roots nor formed by the leaves, but that growth of stalk is at the direct expense of the reserve food in the roots.

Dig up before tight-freezing weather, sufficient rhubarb crowns, with all their attached fleshy roots, to occupy, when closely crowded together, as much floor space as can be set aside for the purpose in the cellar or cave. These roots should be put in small piles and lightly covered to prevent drying out, and allow to freeze thoroughly. They may then be taken to the place where they are to be forced and set as closely together as they can be crowded in. All spaces between the several crowns and the individual roots must be filled with fine, loamy soil.

When as many plants are set as are desired for a single crop, the whole setting may be well watered, but not saturated. After which, if the temperature is sufficiently high, the young stalks may be expected to appear in the course of a few weeks, or less time, and to continue to develop until the store of available reserve food in the roots is consumed.

The temperature required to induce growth is not very high nor should it ever be allowed to reach a very high point. Usually a temperature of from 50 to 60 degrees F. will be satisfactory. The lower the temperature the slower will be the growth and the stronger the stalks.

High temperature will induce a more rapid growth and a greater number of stalks, but these will be spindling and weak and of inferior quality.

There are several methods of applying heat. In large cellars a small stove may be an advantage, but most frequently one or two lamps will furnish all necessary heat, provided the pit or cellar be tight and naturally warm. The direct light of the lamps or other heat should be screened from the growing plants in order that the stalks may not be drawn aside from the perpendicular. All windows and other openings should be darkened in such a manner as to admit no light.

POWER IN FLOWING

BY L. W. ELLIS,
Traction Expert, La Porte, Ind.

SIX hundred million tons of soil to the half section lie in the surface foot of earth, which is the workshop of the intelligent farmer. At least once in two years this enormous weight must be turned bottomsides up. My mission is to raise the question of how this shall be done in sub-humid agriculture, and even more prominent in the answer, than the figure of the plow is the thought of power. Power shapes our modern world and nowhere is the solution of the power problem more important than upon the farms of our best dry-farming area.

Power on our farms is tending more and more to become mechanical in its nature. The stationary engine aids or replaces the dry farmer's own muscle. The tractor comes to assist the animal as well as man. With the traction engine to take care of the heavy rush work and look after itself the rest of the time, and with the number of horses determined by the odd jobs that need attention the year around the power problem is permanently solved and the type of farming may be chosen properly with reference to soil, markets and climatic conditions.

It takes four or five years to make a good work horse. A modern factory can turn out a 30-horse power tractor in from three to five hours. It takes many generations to change the type of an animal, but only a few weeks to adapt a machine to a new condition. Each new thing comes as an addition to our resources rather than as a complete revolution. Man, animal and steam power will perhaps show no remarkable increase, but the dominant form of power on our dry farms of the future will be the power.

TRAINING BIRDS FOR SHOW

BIRDS to win must be trained so as to show their good qualities to advantage. However good a bird may be, though, if it were possible, every feather were perfect in color and making, the shape faultless, the comb without a defect, if that bird will not show its good qualities, but will, at one's approach, make a wild dash for the rear of the coop, thrust down its head and point its tail at the observer, its chances of winning approximate closely to zero. The first requisite in training is to have the birds tame and the best time to begin such training is when it is a small chicken. Even chickens of the most nervous breeds can be rendered tame by judicious management. If one, when among them, say at feeding time, will refrain from making any sudden and swift movement, and will place the food a little nearer to him from day to day, in a short time the chickens will lose all their timidity and will gather around his feet and pick at his shoe strings or shoe buttons. Even adult fowls, however wild they may be, can be rendered tame by using similar methods, though the work cannot be accomplished so quickly.

In training fowls it is advisable to accustom them to the restraint of an exhibition coop. By taking the fowl from the roost at night and gently placing it in the coop and feeding it there for about a week, it will find that your presence does not mean harm, and however wild it may be at first, it will after a time associate your presence with its food and cease to be frightened. After the fowl has ceased to be afraid of you, have some other member of your family visit the coop with you at feeding time; then two members; and then several, so that the bird may become accustomed to be approached by a number of people at once and thus have grown familiar with the conditions it will meet when placed on exhibition. After the fowl has become partially tamed in this manner, reach in your hand, with some tid bit, and entice the fowl to take it from your hand. At first it may not do so, but patiently continue the practice and, in a few days it will take the food from your hand. When it will do this you can by degrees get the fowl to allow you to stroke its back and the front of the neck.

When you have thus secured the necessary degree of tameness, the training should continue so as to get the fowl to stand erect at your approach. The training coop should be high enough to allow the bird to stretch its legs and reach up to its full height at the top of the coop, and the top, preferably, should be made of smooth rods placed two inches or so apart. When you come with the food which the bird is especially fond of, like a little lean meat, you should hold this at the top of the coop, or introduce it between the rods which form the top. The bird will then stretch up to its full height and take the food from your fingers, and in a short time will associate your approach with feeding from the top, and stand erect and alert as you draw near. The erect attitude can also be induced by gently stroking the bird under the chin—that is, commencing just under the beak and stroking down the front of the neck. This process seems to hypnotize the bird, and it will stand in any desired position for a sufficient length of time to enable one to get a favorable impression of its carriage. There is a considerable difference in the susceptibility of individual birds to this training, but nearly all can be brought to stand as desired, if sufficient patience and perseverance is employed. I once had an Indian game cockerel that without any preliminary training of the sort would stand for several minutes like a statue. I discovered the fact at a show where the bird was on exhibition, by taking him out of his coop to show him to some friends and accidentally touching him on the front of the neck, he assumed a soldierly pose and stood erect for an appreciable time. Then I deliberately stroked his neck, and he would stand in this attitude as frequently and as long as I desired. The bird showed to such advantage that with his natural merits, though in strong competition, he secured the first prize in his class, defeating many high-priced birds, bought expressly for the purpose of beating me, as I afterward learned.

THE JERSEY AT HOME

THE Jersey farmer tries to have his cows calve during the first three months of the year. They are attended to almost entirely by the women, and are housed at night during the winter, being brought in about 4 o'clock in the afternoon, when they are milked, each receiving about three-quarters of a bushel of roots and some hay. At 8 o'clock a bundle of straw is given to each. In the morning they are milked and fed about 6 o'clock, again receiving the same allowance of roots and hay, and at nine are turned out to pasture. Farmers endeavor to dry their cows about a month or six weeks before calving. Bran mash is given them about the time of calving and for a fortnight thereafter the only time this food is used. The milk of calves intended for veal are fed the milk of their dams for about six weeks. The heifer calves are invariably reared. About two weeks after calving cows are turned out on grass during the daytime if the weather be fine, the general custom being to tether them. About every three hours they are moved and tethered in a fresh spot. They are watered in the morning and also at noon, and in warm weather again in the evening.

PROBLEMS OF MATING SHEEP

THE mating period is a critical time in the annual management of a flock of sheep. The skill possessed by the flock owner to mate animals of strong and weak characteristics to produce desirable results is put to severe test. A judge in the slow ring may award prizes to individual animals manifesting superior type and economic qualities, and there his judgment rests; but this is not true with the man who has produced the stock. He is confronted with a hundred and one problems that must be solved before his labor is complete. A mistake at any period from the time the parent stock has been selected for breeding until the progeny has reached full maturity is likely to become manifest in some form or other and materially interrupt the desired course.

The flock owner must be mindful of his purpose at all times. To be able to select breeding stock prudently is not all he must possess a thorough understanding of the fundamental laws of their management. To mate animals extra strong in certain individual points to animals equally as deficient is an imprudent practice and one that cannot help bring disappointment. Animals that are extra strong in any one quality are likely to be weak in many others and to reproduce with variation. In the selection of breeding stock attention should be paid to selecting smooth, symmetrical animals, possessed of the desired type and conformation. By adhering to the smooth, symmetrical type of sheep improvement along some desired line is bound to result, and a foundation will be laid upon which future improvement may be intensified.

DRY FARMING NECESSARY

BY DR. J. H. WORST,
President North Dakota Agricultural College.

THE fact that nearly half the earth's surface is visited with less than twenty inches of annual rainfall makes dry farming a necessity. But a fraction of this vast area is susceptible of irrigation. What cannot be irrigated must be cultivated, if at all, by dry-farming methods, for human genius cannot remove natural barriers. It can, however, suggest methods of farming that may be adjusted to local conditions, methods of tillage that will prevent the unnecessary evaporation of soil moisture, together with the breeding of those plants which are themselves economic of moisture. These factors, taken together, will tend to make agriculture profitable with less rainfall than in humid districts where the total precipitation during the year is frequently far in excess of the actual needs of the growing crops.

Considering the actual expenditure of capital and labor in either humid or semi-arid countries to insure agricultural success, the rewards should not vary greatly. The tendency to take chances, however, is more likely to prevail in humid countries than in semi-arid countries; for in the latter no gambling on timely showers is warranted and the farmer knows it. He must conserve the moisture that comes or his crops will prove a failure.

GOVERNMENT STUDIES EGGS

IMPROPER and antiquated methods of handling eggs in the United States result in losses that reach an estimated total of $45,000,000 annually. This is 17 per cent of the estimated total value of the entire crop. Practically all this loss is borne by farmers and other producers, and a large part of it can be prevented. How the Department of Agriculture, through its bureau of animal industry, is solving this problem is told in bulletin No. 141, just issued, entitled "The Improvement of the Farm Eggs."

In order to show how this loss might be prevented, the bureau of animal industry last year sent experts into Kansas to conduct investigations. The results of the first season's work are given in detail in the bulletin, with suggestions for improvement that may be applied anywhere. "Although but one season has been spent by the bureau in this work," says the bulletin, "several much desired changes have been brought about. The most important of these was the adoption by shippers of the 'loss-off' system of buying and selling eggs."

Previous to the work of the bureau Kansas eggs were not very popular in the markets outside of the state. Quantity rather than quality was a handicap the shippers encountered. The immediate effect of buying a "loss-off" system produced such a marked change in the quality of the eggs reaching the market that outside buyers now manifest a preference for eggs bought in this manner.

RHODE ISLAND REDS

WHILE the Plymouth Rock derives its name from our Gibraltar, the Rhode Island Red derives its name from that famous state which is quality and not quantity, and where it is almost universally bred and acclaimed cock of the walk. It is really New England's national bird.

It is "the survival of the fittest" in a struggle to build the best, for it is a combination of Malays, Shanghaies, Cochins and many others thrown in for good measure, so that it can crow in many languages. But, however loud the claxon of this magnificent bird, it cannot drown the praises of the thousands who breed it round the world.

It is bred in single and rose combs and built along utility lines for flesh and eggs. It is sturdy, it has that oblong shape that means eggs, it carries an unusual amount of flesh on its well-rounded body, while its pretty plump breast makes it great for broilers, all set off with a gold-tinted skin that makes a dandy carcass to catch bon ton trade.

The hens are fine layers of nice brown eggs and do not stop for winter cold, as they are well clad for snow weather. They are quick in their movements, good foragers, docile, splendid setters and good mothers.

Reds are hardy stock, eggs are well fertilized, and chicks have a quick growth. They are red—a rich, velvety red—with some black in wing, and tail mainly black with greenish sheen.

This American breed is bustling for first place and backed by an enthusiastic army of breeders bids fair to get there.

GARDEN POULTRY YARD

AFTER all the vegetables are gathered in it is well to turn the garden into a poultry yard. It takes only a day or so to make the change, and besides benefiting the garden, it does the chickens a great deal of good. The rest given the regular yard is worth something, and the garden is greatly enriched and made more profitable by the presence of the fowls.

First of all, the ground should be fertilized and plowed, a very easy task after the October rains have softened the ground. This destroys multitudes of weeds and furnishes green manure, as well as the barn yard product for the garden. Then the ground should be sown to rye, oats or wheat. When the grain is well sprouted or an inch or two above the ground the chickens may be turned in and from then on until freezing they will have a veritable picnic. Just to look at them industriously destroying a wheat field in the fall ought to convince every farmer that it pays to cater to their wants. They will literally find every grain and blade if allowed to range, and will be healthiest and more content out in the open than anywhere else. And as for increased egg production, this plan needs to be tried only once to be always in vogue. Be sure the oats or the wheat is very thickly sown.

MORE PURE-BRED FOWLS ON THE FARM

BY PROFESSOR GEORGE D. BLACK, Antioch College, Yellow Springs, Col.

THE subject of poultry has come to have so large a significance in animal husbandry that the farmer can no longer afford to look upon it as a little side issue to his real business, something merely for women and children to dabble in. He cannot afford to let it go haphazard as it is allowed to on many of our farms. Poultry may be made a valuable asset on any farm. But it calls for study and intelligent management like any other department of live stock husbandry. And it will be found that poultry, in proportion to the capital invested and the labor expended, yields a greater profit than any other one thing on a farm.

My plea here is for the pure-bred fowl. As one goes around in Ohio he is surprised to see, even in those parts where live stock breeding is in a high state of perfection, few flocks that show any taste and skill in their breeding. Occasionally one sees a fairly good flock of White Rocks or Rhode Island Reds or Leghorns. More Rhode Island Reds, perhaps, than any other kind; but for the most part they are badly mongrelized, for the very reason that few farmers have tried to master the problem of Barred Rock mating.

One thing that is distinctly against the pure-bred chicken is the tradition which has come down from time immemorial that constant changing and mixing of breeds on the farm promote hardiness and productivity. The result, as one sees it in traveling over the country, is a bringing together in our flocks of all colors, sizes, shapes and habits. This year Rocks are used, and next year Reds, and the next Leghorns, and so on through the whole lot of the breeds.

If a farmer's hens are not laying first rate, he is apt to decide that he should infuse new blood into his flock, when the trouble may really be in his method of feeding, or in his having a poor strain of layers. A neighbor of mine, whose flock has a mixture of many breeds, complained to me that he was not getting as many eggs as he had a right to expect from so many hens, and he said he believed he would not touch his comb another season to see if the change would not infuse new laying ability into his birds. I ventured to say to him that the Cornish is not particularly noted for egg production, that it is a first-class market fowl, and then I tried to show him that he was really working toward no substantial result by such a miscellaneous throwing together of blood lines. It is not true that the mixture of breeds induces hardiness. No fowl in America has been more closely line-bred (that is, intelligently inbred) than the Barred Rock as we find it in the yard of the fanciers, and it is one of the most virile, rugged chickens we have; and we find it in its greatest size and beauty, not on the farms, but in the plants devoted to exhibition stock.

LATE ORCHARD AND GARDEN NOTES

PROTECT apple trees from sun scald by putting boards or cornstalks on the southwest side of the tree. Mountain ash and young basswood may also be treated in the same manner.

Prepare to get better results with fruits, flowers and vegetables next season, by noting the mistakes of this year, and a study of some of the good horticultural literature easily obtained.

Celery for winter use may be put in the cellar as soon as freezing weather begins. Pack it lightly in boxes; cover the roots with earth or sand. A cool, dark cellar is the best place to store celery.

Prepare the ground and set a frame for next season's hotbed. Fill the frame with straw or leaves, and cover with boards. This will prevent the soil freezing as deep as it otherwise would. Better have plenty of soil prepared and protected, to use in the hotbed when needed.

PREVENTION OF HOG CHOLERA

Department Agricultural Extension, Louisiana State University.

UNDER the direction of the Louisiana state live stock sanitary board, a serum is prepared at the agricultural experiment station in Baton Rouge for the prevention of hog cholera. This is available for distribution at very nominal cost among the farmers of the state.

There are two methods of immunizing an animal—one in which the serum alone is used, and the other in which a small amount of blood from a diseased animal and serum are injected simultaneously.

When cholera exists in a herd or in adjoining fields, serum alone is used. This is the safer method because the hogs may already be slightly infected and an added injection of infected blood might easily prove fatal. Even when cholera does not exist in the locality the serum method is safer, but it does not often produce immunity for much over two months.

When serum and a small amount of blood from an infected hog are injected simultaneously, there is some slight risk, but the period of immunity lasts for six months or more, or practically the life of the animal.

The board recommends that the serum be used by qualified veterinarians when available, or it will send an expert if his expenses are paid by the parties getting the serum.

WHEN HENS LAY

LEGHORN hens such as are suitable for breeders weigh from three to four pounds and under the rule should come to laying when four months old, but with our care they do not make growth to warrant it. Occasionally one lays at four months, but these are exceptions. I find my records show that about 75 per cent commence laying at five months and 90 per cent at six months. The other 10 per cent I have no record of, as I either get rid of such pullets or place them with other stock of which no individual record is kept.

There are exceptions to all rules. We find these in large breeds as well as in Leghorns. A great many Plymouth Rocks do not mature until they are eight or nine months old and there are those that lay at five or six months. While the average of Orpingtons will not lay until eight months, we find many advertisers of this breed who claim that their pullets lay at four months. Our Leghorns are just as much behind as some of the others are too early. I think when applied to the Mediterranean breeds this rule should be amended so as to read one month and ten days for each pound the pullet will weigh when fully grown. This will bring the four-pound Leghorn pullet to laying when five months and ten days old, which is a fair average.

POULTRY DON'TS

DON'T scald fowls for city market. Lower price.

Don't show birds simply to lick some other fellow. You are apt to get licked. Then someone will follow, "I told you so."

Don't let hens drink from cow tracks in the barn yard. The hygienic hen and the healthy cow, the pure food sheep and the sanitary sow aren't found where all is smelly and rot, but thrive on a clean, laying soil.

RAISE MORE SHEEP

BY C. R. BARNES,
Extension Division, Minnesota College of Agriculture.

NO BRANCH of animal husbandry more invites the attention of the progressive farmer to-day than does the keeping of sheep. As compared with cattle raising, it holds out the lure of a double return; a crop of wool to be marketed in the spring; a bunch of lambs to be marketed a little later. The labor involved in caring for a flock of fifteen or twenty sheep is less than that required by an equivalent number of cattle. Sheep will thrive on pasturage which is insufficient for beefsteers; they are great destroyers of weeds; and beyond all other animals they enrich the land by their droppings.

There are at present not more than fifteen sheep to the square mile in Minnesota. There should be four times as many. The present backward status of the sheep-growing and wool-producing industry in our state is probably attributable, first, to the pre-occupation of our farmers with other work; second, to the destruction wrought in years past by dogs; third, to the failure of a number of men who without previous experience went into the business on a large scale and who found when too late that they had bitten off more than they were prepared to chew.

KEEPING POTATOES FROM SPROUTING

A GERMAN publication gives a new method for keeping potatoes from sprouting, which consists in placing them on a layer of coke. Dr. Schiller, of Brunswick, who has published the method, is of the opinion that the improved ventilation by means of coke is not alone responsible for the result, but believes that it is due to the oxidation of the coke, which, however, is a very slow one. Coke always contains sulphur, and it is very possible that the minute quantities of oxides of carbon and sulphur, which result from the oxidation, mixing with the air and penetrating among the potatoes, are sufficient greatly to retard sprouting. Potatoes so treated are said to keep in good condition until the following July.

HOME CONVENIENCES

SOME stormy evening, when the whole family is gathered about the fire, take up and discuss the feasibility of modern conveniences in the home. The kitchen sink, with hot and cold water; the bathroom, hot air, steam or hot water heat, are as much of a necessity for convenience and comfort in the country as in the city, and may be had as cheaply. Every farmer's family may and should know the facts regarding these desirable improvements.

RHYMING FOULTRY DON'TS

DON'T hesitate if — and meat you want. The Dottes, the Rocks, the Reds, can do the stunt.

Don't study long if you want size and

"Man wants but little here below," but every farmer who reads a copy of

AMERICA'S GREATEST FARM DAILY

Chicago Daily Farmers and Breeders Journal

is convinced at once that that is one of the things he does want while "here below." He knows at a glance that it is elevating, that his wife and family will like it just as well as he does, and that it contains more useful information for the farmer than any other agricultural publication in the world.

It's the farmer's paper.

Do you till the soil?

AMUSEMENTS

Press Agent Says:

Auditorium Pictures.
The pictures to be shown at the Auditorium tonight and Sunday matinee and night will be a treat to their patrons. Tonight the following pictures will be given: "The Sheriff," a stirring western drama. "The Humpty Torpedo," a comedy. "Love and Liberty," a patriotic drama. "The Big Dam," a tense stirring picture. "The Chyenne's Bride," an Indian love story. The Auditorium pictures are the biggest, brightest and best to be obtained.

Richard Carle.

After having made all the East laugh with his latest musical toll "Jumping Jupiter" for the last two seasons, Richard (himself) Carle will present his successful production at the Auditorium on Wednesday next.

Carle fashioned "Jumping Jupiter" over from a tale by Sydney Rosenfeld to fit his own peculiar humor and personality. The music by Karl Hoschna, the famous composer of "Madame Sherry" and "Three Twins" is full of charming melody, and the production is brand new in every detail. Mr. Carle has not been seen here for three years and his appearance will be a welcome event. Unlike many other stars, Mr. Carle prefers to surround himself with the best possible cast, and the support in "Jumping Jupiter" will include Edna Wallace Hopper (specially engaged).

At Fields' Greater Minstrels.
The demands of theatre goers for novelty makes the life of the producer one of study and experiment. Al G. Field, the maker of minstrels, launches one show to begin another. Scarcely has one production left the ways before the keel is laid for its successor.

One of the pronounced successes of this season's production is the skit entitled "The Darktown Umanoid Walk." Unusual care was taken in its preparation and production.

The Orpheum.

Patrons of the Arcade playhouse will be glad to know that a lively musical comedy is booked for the first half of next week. "The Royal of Rhonda" is a jingling musical comedy supported by four vaudeville acts, chief among which is the Canadistie Trixie, which is par excellence. Baker & Palmer, a witty team will be seen in an up-to-date sketch which shows much originality. Nat Ritter has a singing and dancing novelty with James Crowley Omega. The offer some song hits, one of the features being "The Bathing Girls," an electrical novelty. Other numbers are "A Hot Time in Monkey Town," "By the Light of the Jungle Moon," "Chicken Reel" and "Heiny Bobby Barker," the manager has surrounded himself by a clever company. Continuous motion pictures Sunday, from 1 to 10:30 p. m.

GALLERY SEATS
FOR ELK MINSTREL
WILL BE EXCHANGED

Owing to the fact that the house was sold out for the Elk minstrel Monday night, a great many who had purchased dollar tickets agreed to occupy first gallery seats for same. The committee having charge of the minstrel wishes to inform ticket holders of gallery seats that if they wish they may call at the box office of the Auditorium and exchange their gallery seats for any seat on the lower floor for the afternoon matinee. Many will doubtless take advantage of this offer.

THE ADVOCATE'S SATURDAY EVENING SERMON

By REV. J. MORRISTON THOMAS, PASTOR PLYMOUTH CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.

"Prepare to meet thy God, O Israel."

"Dramatic! Yes, and moral also. No amount of sophistry can convert this text from what it has always been—a solemn warning and a pronouncement of retributive justice. Study the context. We are living, it is true in most fortunate times. Many new and brilliant lights illumine the temple of science, many new stars have arisen in the heavens of speculative philosophy. Verily, 'truth springeth from the ground,' and hidden things are proclaimed from the housetops. housetops.

"Let it be said with unfeigned gratitude, we owe an incalculable debt to that 'choir invisible' which has by its ceaseless toil and complete genius contributed so much to the charm of life and to the harmony of existence. Heights hitherto inaccessible are being gradually scaled; the dense fogs of ignorance and superstition are rapidly lifting; the horizon of life has been immeasurably extended.

"Man has eaten of the tree of knowledge and has become a demigod. He raises his arm and feels it pulsating with the force of omnipotence. He adjusts the astrolabe and discourses upon the material of the stars. He views his own handiwork and behold it is very good! He is avenged of the wrongs inflicted upon his forbears. He is almost insolent in his independence and is nearly intoxicated by the exuberance of his own verbosity." He gazes around, but sees no heavenly chariot; he lifts up his eyes but sees no vision of angels.

"Religious ideas, thank God, have undergone great transformation, but the end is not yet. There is not last word to theology, save the first, viz., that it is the science of religion, what man has to say concerning God. I think you will discover if you read back into the centuries that men were even then just as we are now prone to refer to their own generation as 'this enlightened age.'

"But it is true that many things are passing away; that the reign of terror in the domain of religion is being supplanted by a sweet peace, and the spirit of universal brotherhood. Nevertheless, it does not follow that because we are very ingenious and intelligent, very hospitable and benevolent, we are either very good or very holy. And that is what the text demands, not mere courtesy, intellectuality, aestheticism, but holiness, 'without which no man can see the Lord.'

"Self-culture is very good, and is worthy of all acceptance, but it is neither a spiritual nor yet a metaphysical commodity; moreover it is not the gospel.

"I admire breadth of thought; advocate revision, even abolition of creeds, but I protest against emasculated truth and repudiate any exposition of Scripture which substitutes a species of sublime insipidity for divine justice and which robs God of his distinctive personality.

"It is easily determined whence the prophet spoke, no fear of kings in

THOUGHTS FROM DR. J. M. THOMAS' PEN.

"The reign of terror in the domain of religion is being supplanted by a sweet peace and the spirit of universal brotherhood."

"I have no sympathy with fanaticism, and I eschew dogmatism, but although God is love, and although hell is under indictment, yet I most humbly confess I fear God with my whole heart."

"I pity the modern Narcissus even more than I do the ancient for I doubt that in his transformation he will resemble anything so lovely as the flower which bears his name."

"May new and brilliant lights illumine the temple of science; many new stars have arisen in the heaven of speculative philosophy."

"Man has eaten of the tree of knowledge and has become a demigod."

"I like sweet slumber songs, but I do not believe their place is in the church."

"I do not believe in administering religious anaesthetics. You cannot perform an operation upon a soul while it is in a condition of subconsciousness."

"The first requisite of perfection is obedience and the crown of obedience is holiness."

"An awakened sinner is an incipient saint."

"There are some words which never lose their pristine power, and I present them to you, my friend, Jesus Christ, in whom the world is reconciled to God—accept Christ if you would see God. God may undoubtedly be seen through other mediums and agencies, but the transfiguration of humanity has been so far effected through Christian influences.

"Heterodoxy may yet do a great deal of construction, but we all know, despite the many doleful predictions now current, I say we know what evangelical truth has done."

"I like sweet slumber songs, but I do not believe their place is in the church. An awakened sinner is an incipient saint. A sinner in Christ is Christ in a man."

Calvin probably underestimated man when he declared man's impotence. Modern theologians, I fear, are too apt to declare his impotence. For my part I will continue to believe I am a sinner and trust in Jesus Christ. Many things have I heard concerning God, but some time I hope to behold his face. Meanwhile I will endeavor to prepare. I do not believe in administering religious anaesthetics. You cannot perform an operation upon a soul while it is in a condition of sub-consciousness. The Biblical words are very significant: 'Awake! Consider! Repent! Prepare!'

"Let me delude myself with no false hopes. God is holy, though infinite in love, holiness as compared with sin is as fire to fuel. The first requisite of perfection is obedience, and the crown of obedience is holiness. No one can become a saint without humility, and no one can become holy through the righteousness which is of self."

"The self-sanctified is all very well. The 'self-cultivated' merely is all very ill. This is down-right dogmatism, but it is nevertheless an evangelical truth."

Cherish all your beautiful ideas concerning God. Do not cease to thank him, you no longer think him a monster; but do not think he is as volatile and flexible as he is sometimes represented to be.

"There is no fountain in God's World where you may wash your heart-stains and be clean save the fountain of grace."

"I pity the modern Narcissus even more than I do the ancient, for I doubt that in his transformation he will resemble anything so lovely as

GRANVILLE

Granville, Feb. 17.—An event that is always looked forward to as one of the principal features connected with college life at Denison, is the annual Washington banquet given by the Senior class of the university. This year the arrangements that have been made for the affair are on a much more extensive scale than heretofore, and the indications are that the banquet will be the most successful of any ever held here. Aside from the commencement season this is a gathering that is always largely attended by the alumni and students. Word has come that many alumni from different parts of the country are planning to be here and attend the banquet. The committee promises a menu superb, and a list of toasts entirely unsurpassed.

At the Methodist church Sunday the pastor, the Rev. A. J. Hawke will preach. Sunday school will be held as usual at 11 o'clock; Epworth League, 6 p. m. Subject of morning sermon, "Vision and Task." Evening theme, "Memory Impenetrable."

Mr and Mrs. F. B. Mead of Vincennes, Ind., who have been visiting at the home of Mr and Mrs. G. H. James, north of the village for some days, returned home Friday after having had a most enjoyable visit.

Wilton Tucker, a prominent young business man of Springfield, O., was in the village Friday on business for a short time.

Port Johnson, who has been at the Grant Hospital, Columbus, for the past several weeks, where he underwent an operation for appendicitis, was brought to his home in Clouse's Lane.

Word has been received here that the Rev. T. J. Sheppard, the "Chaplain of Andersonville Prison," who for so many years made his home in Granville, is lying seriously ill at the home of his daughter, Mrs. James R. Hopley in Bucyrus. The many friends of Mr. Sheppard, both in Granville and in Newark wish his speedy recovery.

After a short visit with friends in the village, Miss Anna Oldaker, a charming young woman, has returned to her home in Columbus.

One of the most enjoyable social affairs of the past week was that which occurred on Wednesday evening, February 14, when the members of the Sigma Chi fraternity most delightfully entertained a number of their friends, being the Misses Ruth Thomas, Maud

Fergus, Irene Shenberger, Gladys Thompson, Gertrude Wright, Grace Woodyard and Virginia Blackford. The girls were chaperoned by Miss Parsons.

Word has been received here by friends that Miss Anna Barrett, who has been at the head of the department of English in the high school at Windom, Minn., has been re-elected for the third time. This is considered quite a compliment to Miss Barrett for her ability and efficiency in this position.

FIRE DAMAGES
WYETH WORKS
IN NORTH END

A fire discovered at 6:10 o'clock Friday night in the trimming department of the Wyeth carriage shop, in North street, near the B. & O. railroad, caused a loss estimated at $1000 to $1500, which is fully covered by insurance. The origin of the fire has not been determined.

The fire gained considerable headway in the inflammable materials in the room where it originated. Before the arrival of the department the flames were leaping from the windows in the east end of the building, and for a time it looked as though the entire plant was threatened.

Three hose companies and the ladder truck from the Central house were sent to the fire and within a short time the blaze was under control, and after an hour's work was entirely extinguished.

Apparently started under a work bench in the trimming department, where considerable material used for upholstery work was stacked for the convenient use of the workmen. A portion of the building was burned and much material damaged. Although the entire interior of this building was somewhat scorched, the flames were confined to the east end of the structure.

At the offices of the Wyeth Company Saturday morning it was stated that an accurate statement of the loss could not be given until an inventory was made, but it is believed that it will not exceed $1500. Insurance policies cover the loss.

Men's Meeting.
The Christian Men's Union will hold their regular monthly meeting tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 in the Central Church of Christ.

This meeting will be of an evangelistic nature and will be addressed by Dr. I. J. Spencer, whose subject is "God's Love and Hope for Bad Men."
Dr. Spencer, who has been conducting the special evangelistic services at the Central Church of Christ for the past two weeks has proven himself to be a forceful and practical preacher with gospel truth fitted in to the needs of the people.

At the beginning of the meeting tomorrow afternoon there will be a song service by the men under the leadership of Professor Stuber and it is hoped that the men will be present promptly at 2:30.
The meeting tomorrow afternoon
as all other meetings under the auspices of the Christian Men's Union will be open to all men, not only church men but men who are interested in both their own welfare and the welfare of mankind.

NEWARK WINS FROM GLENFORD

Newark High defeated Glenford in a close and exciting game Friday night at Hickey Hall by a score of 42 to 36, avenging the defeat at the hands of this team last week, when the Newark lads visited Glenford.
The result was in doubt until the timekeeper's whistle sounded the signal for the end of the game. The score saw-sawed back and forth
throughout the two halves and the Newark boys worked hard for the victory.

The Eighth grade team defeated
the Freshmen team in a preliminary to the high school game by a score of 20 to 19.

Girls Defeated.

FOR EPILEPSY OR FITS TEST THE KOSINE TREATMENT

Without Expense
There is nothing more frightful in a happy home than to have one of its members instantly seized with an attack of Epilepsy or Fits. The Kosine Treatment relieves all fear of these attacks which are so frequent to the sufferers of Epilepsy. Kosine has been successfully used for a number of years by the laity as well
as physicians and the many grateful letters from those who have used Kosine testify to the real merit
of the treatment.
The Kosine guarantee absolutely protects you. Buy a bottle of Ko-sine for $1.50. If, after using you are not entirely satisfied, your money will be refunded.

W. C. T. U. NOTES.

The regular meeting of the W. C.
T. U. was held in the rest rooms on Tuesday at 2:00 o'clock. After the devotional exercises plans were laid for advanced temperance work in the city. Also a very interesting report of the suffragist convention held in Columbus last week was read. It being the memorial day of the death of Francis E. Willard, beautiful remarks were made concerning her and her life work by the president and others, reference was made to Judges 4:8,9. Read it.

BITTER ATTACK ON REP. HOBSON

Washington, Feb. 17.—A bitter personal attack on Representative Richard Pearson Hobson was made on the floor of the house today by two Democratic colleagues, Representative Hay, of Virginia, chairman of the military affairs committee,
and Representative Fitzgerald, chairman of the appropriations committee. Remarks in the Congressional Record, not uttered on the floor against these two men formed the basis for the attack. Mr. Hay charges that Hobson acted in a "cowardly"
manner and Mr. Fitzgerald said Hobson devoted more time to Chautauquas and lecture platforms than to the sessions of the house.

KILLED WHILE COASTING.
Reading, Pa., Feb. 17.—Robert L.
Hewitt, 21, was instantly killed and two others seriously injured here in a coasting accident. He was steering a sled on which ten men were riding when it ran into a tree.

CHARGED WITH POCKET PICKING

Wesley Sutley and Frank Morris
were bound over to the grand jury
this morning on a charge of pocket-picking, it being alleged that the two relieved Albert Shrigley of a watch and some money Thursday night. The watch was pawned at Zanesville. The men told the officers that they merely took the watch
and money to keep some one else
from robbing Shrigley. Officer Pittrey found Sutley in a Canal street house last night, while Morris was picked up Thursday night. The bond of each was fixed at $300.

PILES DISAPPEAR

So Does Eczema, Salt Rheum, Ulcers,
Old Sores and Carbuncles.

Under the influence of San Cura Ointment surprising cures are made so quickly that they seem like miracles.
Stubborn cases of piles like those
of Rev. W. F. Gilbert of Titusville, Pa., vanish before the marvelous antiseptic Ointment Mr. Gilbert writes:
"For twenty years I suffered with bleeding and itching piles; at times
I was confined to the house for more than a month. Two years ago I began using San Cura Ointment and one 50c jar made a firm and permanent cure. I have not been troubled since."

San Cura Ointment is guaranteed
by Erman & Son, who are the agents
in Newark, to cure any of the above named diseases or money back. It instantly kills all pains from burns,
cuts and bruises, draws out the poison and heals in a short time. 25 cents and 50 cents a jar at Erman & Sons.

"The Store of Newark, O.—Where Quality Counts."

WILL PARTICIPATE IN ELK MINSTREL MONDAY AT MATINEE AND EVENING PERFORMANCES

There are going to be many surprises in store for everybody at the Elk minstrel Monday.

GENE SCHLEGEL.

strel Monday matinee and night. A great deal of talent has been developed through the hard-working efforts of Director Robert Rae.

Two of the burnt cork artists who will participate on the ends are Eugene Schlegel and Dan Ganey, two popular and well known young Elks of this city. They are breaking into minstrelsy for the first time and from rumors that have come from the rehearsals they are going to prove one of the big hits of the show.

Mr. Schlegel has a song which was composed for his special benefit by a brother Elk of Wheeling, Mr. Schlegel has been receiving instructions from a noted Columbus vocalist and he has surprised his friends by the splendid musical talent which he displays. Prof. Ewald Metzger, the noted Columbus teacher of singing, who has heard Mr. Schlegel, states that the latter has missed his calling and should have chosen music and the stage as a profession. As one of the premier comedians Gene will more than make good and his friends are preparing a welcome for him that will take him "off his feet."

Dan Ganey is one of the best known young men in Newark. He has attended every rehearsal and has been one of the most faithful workers. It may not be generally known but it is a fact nevertheless that Mr. Ganey came very near adopting the stage as a profession. He is a natural actor and this fact became apparent to one of the big theatrical producers who was visiting

Newark friends. He tried to induce Mr. Ganey to contract with him but

DAN GANEY.

some of the latter's family objected. Monday afternoon and evening Dan will describe how he gets lonesome and longs for company in a laughing song hit that is more than clever.

Mr. Al G. Field and J. C. Coburn, head of two famous minstrel organizations, have written Director Robert Rae that they will each have a representative here Monday and expect to secure one or two good men for their companies.

The big parade occurs Monday morning at 11:30 o'clock. Watch for it as it will be one of the pleasing events of the day.

FINE PROGRAM

Has Been Prepared and Will Be Rendered at G. A. R. Hall Sunday Afternoon.

Following is the program that will be carried out at the open meeting to be held at G. A. R. hall Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock:
